Worth the Trip | Rouge Cosmetics

Nars, Stila and Tocca are three reasons to make the trek to the North Shore and get to know Rouge Cosmetics. Owned by former department store cosmetics buyer Ann Supple Massey, Rouge focuses on acquainting customers with niche brands like Blinc and Glotherapeutics. Massey says, “We’re all beauty junkies and must love every product before we’ll sell it.” Her artists work in other parts of the industry as well, doing makeup for photo shoots or fashion shows. They also book appointments at this light-filled boutique for weddings, proms and girls’ nights.
